Stars Celebrate Young Hollywood -- And Its Vampires!

Hollywood's next generation of superstars came out to celebrate one another for the 12th Annual Young Hollywood Awards at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre in Los Angeles on Thursday night, and RadarOnline.com was there to find out the perks of being hot, young and living in Tinseltown!

Eclipse star BooBoo Stewart, 16, was in attendance to present Justin Bieber the "Newcomer of the Year" Award and exclusively told RadarOnline.com's Justin Walter that the best part of being a young star is "just enjoying your life."

Paris Hilton's former boyfriend, Doug Reinhardt, told us his favorite aspect of being a part of Hollywood is getting to go to these type of events and meeting interesting and fun people.

Karissa and Kristina Shannon of The Girl's Next Door were also present and highlighted the best part of Hollywood for them is "getting to go to all the hot spots" until they can hit up Vegas when they turn 21.

Among the awards handed out at the evening's ceremony was the "Cast to Watch" Award which was given to the cast of the Vampire Diaries -- proving that vampires still rule young Hollywood.

BooBoo Stewart beamed that Twilight fans should get excited because Eclipse will be full of action and romance "pumped up a couple levels" from Twilight and New Moon.

True Blood beauty Mariana Klaveno, shared her insight into the vampire craze claiming "vampires are so sexy, and interesting and fascinating" through their sense of humor and intelligence. She also went on to describe co-stars Anna Paquin and Stephen Moyer as "a wonderful couple" and "funny as hell."

Vampire Diaries' Nina Dobrev, who received the "Making Their Mark" Award, attributed the hotness of vampires to their sex appeal, mystery, and being unattainable.
